

Intruder Alarms

Full perimeter protection backed up by internal motion detection is the highest level of security protection we at Grants Electrical Services LTD offer as standard on all our Home Intruder detection systems. This allows you to have your alarm system armed while you are at home, with external windows and doors alarmed, monitoring the frames and glass for vibration and high impact. You can freely walk around in the knowledge your Home's perimeter is fully alarmed. Giving you peace of mind.

As the Gardai advise – a monitored alarm system backed up by good security lighting is a step in the right direction in securing your home or business.

The idea of an intruder alarm system is to simply try and deter a potential burglary occurring at your home or premises and, to an extent, it works – having an intruder alarm system installed is the difference of an Intruder to your home or business being in your property for 5 minutes or 5 hours.

The majority of burglaries are opportunistic, a burglar does not want any attention, if he triggers an intruder alarm system it will disrupt his plans, noise is his worst enemy because it attracts attention and cuts the time allowed in your property.

House Alarms

Our intruder alarms are professionally designed and tailored to suit your requirements. Full perimeter protection is always recommended. Multiple codes for family, friends and cleaners let you control and identify who can enter your home and control your home security system. If you have pets and want to give them freedom to certain areas, this can be built into the design of the intruder alarm system using pet immune detectors.

Installing quality security measures is an investment in the safety and security of your home. It is a long term investment that will reduce the risk of being the victim of crime and will bring considerable peace of mind.

Intruder Alarm Systems for Business

Intruder theft and criminal damage is a threat and cost to business. Monitored intruder detection systems can provide cost-effective protection and act as a deterrent to intruders while alerting staff, monitoring center and in turn the Gardai.

Many companies ignore the real cost of a break-in until it is too late. The theft of stock, hardware and increasingly data can be detrimental. Insurance may cover some of the losses, the disruption can mean delays, lost work and even lost customers.

Whether you need external detection, building security, or to safeguard key internal areas we can assist. Our experience has shown that security systems must be individually designed, professionally installed and regularly maintained.

We will assess the particular risks your premises and operations present, and build an alarm system solution around them combining proven techniques with leading edge technology. Our approach ensures that your system is user-friendly, simple, trouble free and effective at protecting your business, employees, visitors, information and assets.
